

Field for Dissertations

Young immigrant's perspectives on their integration process into host society

Using ethnographic field accesses young adolescents and adults with an immigration background could be interviewed with regard to re-flections about their integration process into host society and the provision of functionings whose effects finally are seen as capabilities by the interviewed young immigrants.